More Spring At Southren

It was a lazy, sunny weekend as these and many other GSC students took a "cool" time-out at the campus swimming pool. But . . . notice anything odd? No one's in the water! Wonder why?

Albright Plays Lead In Musical

Rehearsals are progressing well for the musical "Brigadoon," which is slated for production on May 9 and 10 in McCroan Auditorium, according to Dr. John P. Graham, director.

The Learner and Lowe musical is recognized as a general favorite among productions of this nature, and enjoys the popularity of college students all over the nation, said Dr. Graham.

The rehearsals are conducted nightly from 6:30 until 8:00 p.m.

Wischkaemper Receives Ph.D. at N. Carolina

Mr. Paul Wischkaemper, associate professor of economics, of Georgia Southern College has been awarded the Ph.D. from North Carolina University after successfully defending his dissertation. Dr. Wischkaemper has been a member of the Georgia Southern College faculty since 1961. The title of his dissertation was "Modified Procedures for Institutional Wholesaling from the Viewpoint of Acceptability to Customers."

The major part of his research has been published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in a recent publication, "Services of Institutional Wholesale Grocers." This was co-authored by Wischkaemper and John C. Bouma, marketing specialist.

Dr. Wischkaemper, a native of Shamrock, Texas, received his B. S. and M. S. degrees from the A and M College of Texas. A member of the American Economics Association and the American Marketing Association, he has written a number of publications on marketing. His recent booklet "Services of Institutional Wholesale Grocers" was distributed to over 250 members of the Special Food Distribution Seminar held at the University of Delaware by the Extension Service.

in Marvin Pittman Auditorium. Rehearsals will continue to be held there until the McCroan stage can be procured for rehearsals, said Dr. Graham.

The show centers around the strange little Scottish village of "Brigadoon." By a strange miracle, Brigadoon comes to life only one day in every hundred years. By accident, two American hunters of the present stumble into its existence in this century. The leading man, Tommy Albright, then proceeds to fall in love with Fiona McLaren, a fair Scottish "lass" of Brigadoon. The events which follow are both interesting and entertaining, stated Dr. Graham.

He added that the show's musical score is considered to be one of the finest for this type of production, and is a prime reason for the show's vast popularity. The score includes such songs as "Almost Like Falling in Love," "Heather on the Hill," "Come To Me, Bend To Me," "I'll Go Home With Bonnie Jean," and the title song "Brigadoon," just to name a few.

The cast is made up entirely of GSC students and includes: Amelia Robertson as Fiona McLaren, Price Chapman as Tommy Albright, Bob Fullerton as Jeff Douglas, Jackie Comer as Meg Brockie, Harry Griner as Charlie Dalrymple, Pat McMillen as Mr. Lundie, Gail Means as Jean McLaren, Lloyd Williamson as Angus McDuffie, Billy Wilson as Andrew McLaren, Joe Johns as Frank the Bartender, Linda Gillis as Jane Ashton, and Janie Arnold as Meggie Anderson.

The dialogue and chorus parts, including solos have been combined, and the show is beginning to show signs of shaping up into a real production, said Dr. Graham.

The show, which was first produced in 1947, lends itself readily to collegiate productions. This is one of the major reasons this particular production was chosen, said Dr. Graham.

Dr. Jack Bruce and Miss Joy Letchworth will accompany the production on piano.

GSC Physician Bans Sunlamps

The following memo from Dr. A. B. Daniel, GSC Director of Student Health Service, has been released from the Office of Dean of Students.

"Because of the danger of permanent injury, it is recommended without reservation that the possession of and/or the use of sunlamps by Georgia Southern students for any purpose be barred. This is an administrative problem and penalty for infraction should be adequate and promptly invoked in all instances after reasonable notice to the student body."

Chew, Scouten Awarded $10 By "Miscellany"

Frank Chew and Judith Scouten, winners of Miscellany's writing contest, will be awarded $10 each at an awards dinner at the Country Club, May 23.

Frank Chew won the short-story division with his composition, "Kathy's Mockingbird Tree." Chew is a senior English major from Bartow, Fla., who plans to do graduate study in theater at Northwestern University.

Miss Scouten's poem, "Loneliness" was winner of the poetry division. Miss Scouten is a freshman from Brunswick, Ga., who plans to obtain an A.B. degree in sociology.

Miscellany will be available to students in the middle of May at a price of 50c. The magazine will contain the two prize-winning articles, plus the compositions of other students.

GSC's Library Houses Supreme Court Documents

The Rosenwald Library has received a series of the United States Supreme Court documents, according to Miss Hassie McElveen, head librarian.

These books were acquired by Dr. Jack Averitt in Washington, D. C. for the purpose of supplementing the library in the areas of history and political science. The GSC library is one of the few which has a nearly complete set of almost 400 volumes of these books.

"The United States Reports", as the works are entitled, is a record of court cases beginning in 1790 and continuing to the present date.

The first series of volumes was named for the various court reporters. Before 1922, the reports were the prerequisite of the official reporter of the court who had them printed by a private firm and published a certain number of copies to the government for official use. They are now printed by the government in four preliminary prints.

Tickets On Sale As Annual "Old South Ball" Near

By HALLEY FENNELL

Tickets are now on sale for the annual "Old South Ball," which will be held on Friday, May 4, from 8:30 to 12:30 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Highway 301, according to Donald Westberry, Junior Class President.

Tickets are $3.00 per couple and will be on sale in the lobby of the student center every day until May 4.

The "Top Hats", a five-piece band from Valdosta, who performed at Southern for the Homecoming Dance, will provide the music. They have appeared at all the major colleges in Georgia.

The "Top Hats" style of music ranges from Rock and Roll to that of the Four Freshmen, according to Westberry. The instruments used are a piano, guitar, bass, drums, trumpet, saxophone, and a valve trombone.

"The theme for this year's ball is entitled 'Southern Spring,' which will be designated to portray a typical springtime in the antebellum South," said Westberry.

Jerry Kight, publicity chairman for the junior class, stated that prizes will be awarded to the boy who possesses the longest and "most southern looking" beard; and to the girl who best typifies the "Southern Belle" look.

Robert Manley, a photographer from Augusta, will be on hand to take pictures of couples. Prizes for the pictures will be $4.00 for two 5" x 7" photos in a plastic frame, plus two 2" x 3" wallet-sized pictures. Both sizes will be in color.

The Armory will be decorated in a typical Southern atmosphere. Dress has been designated as formal.

vocated working with every college and setting up a placement bureau in every college. He also said that the officers of each local chapter should work together to set up a scholarship to be awarded jointly to "Mr. and Miss Future Business Executive" to recognize outstanding leadership. Jimmy Pope was his campaign manager.

The Georgia Southern chapter was one of thirteen represented, including Emory, Mercer, Abraham Baldwin, and Valdosta State. Of the eleven events entered, the GSC chapter swept first place in six events, second in four, and third in one.

The first place awards won by GSC students were: Doyle Wilder, State Spelling champion; David Berry, vocabulary contest; and Bob Jones, Speaking Match. The second place awards were for the most original project and the annual activities report. Doyle Wilder placed third in the Vocabulary contest. Miss Ruth Anderson was named first runner-up in the "Miss Future Business Executive" contest.

The GSC club won the Largest Chapter in the State award, and was also awarded a Gold Seal certificate for all-around excellence during the preceding year. It is a national award and was the only one given to a chapter in Georgia.

Candidates for each of the contests were tested and interviewed for the various contests and awards. All of the awards were presented at a banquet Friday night.

Miss Betty Claxton, Dr. Lensing and Howard Jackson, sponsors, attended the convention as well as Dr. Paul LaGrone, chairman of the Business Division at GSC.

Congress Elections Slated May 6; Platform Speeches Set For Tuesday

Ten Candidates Vie For 5 Posts

Elections for Student Congress officers for 1963-1964 will be held on May 6, with a chance of over 1500 students voting, according to Ray Bowden, Congress President.

The unofficial totals as of Tuesday night read ten candidates seeking five congress positions. Three of the candidates listed in last week's paper have declined, and only a handful of students appeared at the student body assembly last Thursday to nominate candidates of their choice.

Those students nominated are: For President, Don Westberry of Odum, who has been a member of Gamma Sigma Upsilon, the Baptist Student Union Council, Alpha Gamma Pi, and was historian of SNEA; a social science major, he was President of the Circle K Club, and is presently President of the Junior Class.

His opponent for the presidency is Bob Green, a math major from Soperton; he has been a committee member of the BSU and was secretary-treasurer of Alpha Gamma Pi, a freshman honorary fraternity, and is a representative to Student Congress from the Junior class.

For First Vice President, Danny Bray, a sophomore from Statesboro majoring in Business Administration. He was a representative to the Student Council from the freshman class, and is now Business Manager of the "Reflector."

Running against him is John Willford, a junior from Waycross majoring in Social Science; he is a member of SNEA, was secretary of the Circle K Club, and a member of the tennis team. He is currently Vice President of the Junior class.

For Second Vice President, Miss Mary Shearouse, a History major from Savannah. Miss Shearouse is a first quarter junior and is a member of the President's Council, Gamma Sigma Upsilon, Wesley Foundation, the "George-Anne" staff, and International Language Association. She is also a student assistant in Lewis Hall and President of the French Club.

Miss Betty Yeomans, also running for the same office, is currently President of the Sophomore class, and President of Alpha Gamma Omicron. She is a Junior High School Education major from Swainsboro, and is a member of Gamma Sigma Upsilon and the BSU.

For Treasurer—Lonice Barrett, a sophomore Recreation major from Perry, who has served on the Committee of 41 and is a member of the BSU; he is Vice President of Gamma Sigma Upsilon and Vice President of the Sophomore class, and is currently

The next meeting will be held in the Bulloch County Hospital conference room on Tuesday, April 23, at 7:30 p.m. The club meets on alternate Tuesdays, and visitors are welcome.

Lynch stated that "coin collecting is a fascinating and rapidly growing hobby."

Their club is presently displaying an exhibition of its coins in the Student Center. This week is National Coin Week, and the display will soon be moved into Minkovitz's show window. The collection features gold coins, mint sets, proof sets and type sets.

The Gamma Sigma Upsilon hostesses for the week of April 26 through May 2 are Anne Cromley, 204 Deal, and Carol Camp, 224 Lewis.

Correction Cited For Outstanding Club Selection

A story in last week's GEORGE-ANNE concerning the criteria for presentation of awards to the outstanding clubs on campus at Honor's Day was partially incorrect. The story stated that "a club from each of the various groups will be recognized. The groups will consist of professional clubs, departmental clubs, religious organizations and service clubs."

The story should have read as follows: one club will be honored from each group, but the field will be narrowed to three, and then to one. This outstanding club will be honored. Entries must be made by tomorrow, to the office of Student Personnel. Entries will be judged by the Student Congress next week.

— WEEKEND EVENTS —

Friday, April 26: APO dance in Old Gym.

Saturday, April 27: SNEA President's Ball in Student Center.

Weekend Movie: "Sheriff of Fractured Jaw."

A Successful Journey

Here Are Some Issues

Campaigns for the 1963 Student Congress elections officially begin Monday with about ten candidates vying for five offices.

Tuesday night, the student body will have a chance to hear each candidate's viewpoint on the office he seeks as campaign speeches will be held in McCroan Auditorium.

The GEORGE-ANNE stated last week that this election, if possible, must be based on issues and not personalities. Then we promised to bring out some of the issues that seem to merit consideration.

Perhaps the most predominant and the first question GSC's future Congress will have to face is that of the newly proposed honor system here. A few weeks ago, Dean of Students Ralph K. Tyson expressed the desire to initiate such a system and The GEORGE-ANNE outlined its views as to how the system should be organized.

It seems almost mandatory that each candidate state favor or opposition to the idea and give reasons for his verdict. Equally important would be a statement of the candidates' feelings as to how the system could be implemented.

The present Congress is working at gaining a portion of the college's entertainment funds for its own use. Congress members seem to feel that if they have a substantial sum with which to negotiate, the multi-problems that have caused setbacks in signing a big name band here could be overcome.

Will the newly-elected officers carry on this work? Why or why not? If so, how?

How do the candidates feel about sanctioned parking on campus for dating couples? Is the idea too far-fetched or does it have merit? If meritorious, do they plan to do anything about it and how?

At an open meeting of the Congress last month, it was suggested from the floor that a committee be appointed on campus whose sole function would be the sponsoring of off-campus activities. Presently, such events must receive the backing of any one of the dozens of campus organizations before being sanctioned. Do the candidates feel that this is a valid idea? If so, how would they work for its fulfillment?

Are there any areas in which the candidates feel that the present Congress has fallen short? If so, where? And how could the situation be improved upon? The newly elected officers will be faced with this question as they meet with the outgoing Congress during the constitutional revision session the week after final exams.

How would each candidate handle an issue or request brought to him by a student? A few weeks ago such a student went before the Congress requesting that milk be served more often in the dining hall. What was done?

Do candidates feel that freshmen should be denied the use of automobiles on campus?

Are there any campus rules and regulations which the candidates feel should be altered? If so, which ones and of what should the alteration consist? Then, in what ways should work for the alteration be conducted?

We feel that these and many other questions should receive comment from the candidates at Tuesday night's rally. If not covered in the speeches, let's hold a question and answer session following each candidate's address.

If students are at all really interested in their own problems, we feel that many new ideas and queries will turn up in such a session. Finally, we urge the voters to attend that meeting and find out for themselves which candidates have real ideas and plans and which carry merely a "smiley platform."

the third out of the inning to halt the Eagles' rally.

This, however, was only to be outdone by Scripture's running-mate, Mike Budd. After the Deacs had tied GSC in the bottom of the ninth, did the Wake Forest left-fielder make his phenomenal grab. The Eagles had men on base with two outs and Glenn Johnson at the plate; a hit here could have been victory for Southern. Johnson hit a long drive to left that had all the ear-marks of a homer, but Budd ran back and in a last-ditch effort caught the ball after falling over the fence, thus ending the last GSC scoring threat of the afternoon.

In both cases the ovations were tremendous by the partisan crowd, even though they did occur at crucial times for the Eagles, proving that good baseball is appreciated by good baseball fans.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

In 1825, Thomas Jefferson defined academic tradition and adopted a revolutionary ungraded college curriculum at the University of Virginia. The new system allowed each student to progress through college at whatever speed he was able.

There was no annual promotion from class to class; a student chose his own courses, and he received his degree after a stiff general oral and written examination. He wasn't troubled with grades, and mid-term examinations were unheard of.

A conservative faculty objected to the system and it disappeared from the University of Virginia and from other campuses for a long time thereafter.

Students Can Set Their Own Pace Today the idea of letting superior students set their own academic speed has come back into vogue and is gaining momentum because of a national need for talents as fast as we can train them.

A student may speed his education these days by several methods — by skipping or substituting courses through advanced placement and standing; by early admission to college or credit from an examination; by taking special courses; by taking heavier than normal loads in high school or college; by independent study, honors programs, off-campus study, and other means.

All of these patterns are represented on Southern campuses. For example, Stetson University at DeLand, Florida, will offer this summer an Advanced Studies Program for high school juniors and seniors who want to increase their knowledge in English, mathematics, problems of American civilization and reading. Students will receive two units of elective credit in their high schools for the course; they may bank the credits at Stetson for later use as college credit or they may use them for early admission to Stetson or other colleges.

Advanced Courses Offered in High School Some 25 high school students will attend Rollins College in Winter Park, Florida, for six weeks this summer to take advanced work in the Rollins Math Summer School sponsored by the National Science Foundation. To be eligible for the school, students must have completed one year of geometry and two of Algebra with an A average.

Emory University in Atlanta, offers a Dean's Scholars Program for outstanding high school students with superior academic records. Each student takes 10 hours of college level work during the course and fulfills the same requirements as college students. If the students attend Emory, they receive full credit for their courses toward graduation.

Students at Auburn University can cut short their degree-earning time by entering through an early admission program while they are in the eleventh grade. The new system will also allow high school graduates to step into advanced courses with credit on the basis of an examination which shows they are capable of advanced study.

National Science Foundation Summer Program Offered

Many Southern schools are participating in the National Science Foundation summer training programs for superior secondary - school students. Among them, Livingston State College in Alabama; Southern State College of Arkansas; Kentucky State College and Murray State College; Grambling College and Southern University and A. & M. of Louisiana; Morgan State College in Maryland; Jackson State College and the University of Mississippi; the Woman's College of North Carolina; Oklahoma State University; Tennessee A. & I. State University and the University of Tennessee; Prairie View A. & M. College and Southern Methodist University; Virginia Polytechnic Institute; and West Virginia University.

Each of these programs is aimed at early identification of superior students and at the earliest possible development of their talents. Their success will benefit Southerners for generations to come.

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor:

As last week's Letter to the Editor was signed merely "Hopeful," I have no other way of disagreeing with the author except through you.

Georgia Southern has a reputation for its friendly campus. Everyone whom I consulted before I applied made the comment that, in general, the students and faculty of Georgia Southern went out of their way to be friendly. Upon arriving on campus, I found this to be true. Immediately I felt welcome at Georgia Southern. I never felt like a stranger because almost everyone spoke to me as a friend.

Perhaps, "Hopeful," you are talking about people who don't speak to you first. It's a rare occasion when I speak to someone who doesn't return the greeting. Try your own advice and perhaps you won't have such a complaint.

Personally, I commend the students at Georgia Southern for their open-armed, genuine friendliness.

Thank you,
Frissy McKnight

Dear Editor,

I wrote you last week about one of my pet peeves and so, although I am not really a pessimist, I decided I'd write you again this week about another one, which is the "I'm-at-college-and-I'm-tuff" attitude adopted immediately upon arrival here by virtually all Freshman girls.

About the first thing girls do in September is start smoking. I watched them the first couple of weeks of Fall quarter and nearly laughed myself to death silently. During that time, I sat in the student center and watched dozens of girls fire up a weed for the very first time and then try to act as if she was a chain smoker for a lung cancer experiment.

The real killer was the non-inhaling female who came in just "dying for a cigarette because I haven't had one since breakfast." It was hilarious to watch a few of the harder ones that did try inhaling as they turned green, coughed and then mumbled something about a bad

Paging Southern

By ROLAND PAGE, Editor

What does it mean to be a candidate for a student congressional office at Georgia Southern College? Why does one accept such a candidacy? And what does he plan to do in the case of victory?

Anyone who is human would, of course, want such a position for the sheer glory of it. They say that there is a selfish motive behind everything we do — and I'm inclined to believe it.

Many people seem obsessed with the desire to achieve. They must do something, be somebody, continue to climb. This is perhaps a dominating motive for becoming a candidate, and by no means a dishonorable one.

Then there's the person who sincerely wishes to serve. This motive may be a minor one within him but it is, nevertheless, sometimes there — and makes him an extremely valuable prospect.

But perhaps the most promising candidate of all is the one who is spurred into a campaign because he feels he can improve the situation around him. He carries preconceived plans of action before he's even nominated. He's afire with ideas and wants to put them into effect.

The complete slate of nominees for GSC's May 6 student election was announced this week.

Did any of these nominees accept their candidacies with that latter motive in mind? Will the next student congress be merely an honorary group or an aggressive instrument with the initiative too carry out certain ideas and plans?

If the latter motive was absent upon acceptance of the nominations, I sincerely hope that the candidates will have given it some serious thought before launching into next week's campaign.

How can this year's student congress be improved upon? What made it succeed in some areas and fail in others?

Previous to the May 6 election, candidates will be required to speak before a student assembly. They'll lay out their platforms and plans for the offices they hope to assume.

The phrase "I'll try to do the best I can" sounds nice but I don't think it says a great deal. I, and possibly many others, would like to hear "what" they'll do and "how" they intend to do it before casting my vote.

I'd like to see the flames of enthusiasm burn in the eyes of the candidate of my choice. Those flames would be the sign of an alert, hard-working congress of the future with a definite goal in mind.

But the absence of such flames could mean a passive, indifferent group of campus "leaders" strolling into the scene.

In the mass confusion of campaigning (which too often consists of "pretty posters" only) let's don't forget that those whom we elect will supposedly be representing our views.

"Support for the congress," a familiar phrase here, would probably come most readily if its members became such by virtue of views which their voters support.

SAME OLD SHILLELAGH

Dear Mom and Dad:

Well the Dining Hall is at its finest. The food has been so delicious the last week. We have had every part of a pig and then some. The tea has been wonderful, it has been only half foam. The coffee hasn't turned solid in the last two weeks.

We now have waitresses to serve us fresh hot rolls that are only ten days old. The dietitian and all the help are so friendly, and this is the reason why everyone is so anxious to dress for these wonderful dinner parties. Oh yes, next year it is rumored that milk will be served twice a week.

Dr. Bibliography is teaching his classes how to translate his Sanskrit. It seems that his students have been having trouble translating his lectures. The reason for this difficult is Dr. Bibliography's brogue.

Dr. Milk Bottle states that he has a new bowl for his milk. This is done to keep up the tradition of Outhouse Terrace.

Dean Get-Us states that all co-ed's must sign in to go to sleep in their dorms. Also girls should not wear wrap-around's on windy days. It seems that this school does not provide flight insurance for these girls.

Dr. Pun states that all English Majors must make a notebook of all his puns before they graduate. This is done so that they will at least come to class.

Miss Sparrow is teaching her French Classes the art of how to smile when one speaks French.

Dr. Sour Kraut and his students are having Sing Alongs. They will sing the latest German Rock and Roll songs.

Dr. Anatomy and his Art 410 Class have set up bunks in the Flirty Building. This is done so that these students will have time to complete their 4000 drawings.

Mr. Ounce states that the Student Center will be open for students daily from 5-7. The air conditioner has been turned on so that all the flowers in the center will not wilt.

Dr. Politics states that he is going to buy leaf tea for his office. It is such a long trip into the inner sanctum.

Dr. Britain states that he is getting his private elevator to his second floor of the Ad. Building. His reasons for doing this is to avoid the traffic jam on the steps.

Stanley has a new shirt but he has almost been hung by his loop. Stanley got back his test the other day and the spot on his nose cleared up at once.

Lulu has been having trouble with her convertible. It seems that the top won't fold down.

Well I guess I had better close because it is almost time for my weekly class in tea making.

Your Son,

Moon

P. S. — Dr. Sting states that the students in his Organic Class do not know how to cook. They can't even boil water, so he is sending them down to the first floor to learn this simple chore.

Miss McAstor and her efficient library staff that next year, the periodical subscriptions will be increased from one to two magazines.

P.P.S. — Take it easy Bugger-shinny and don't walk to Cypress Lake too often.

By MARY SHEAROUSE

What do you think of the idea of having an area for supervised "parking" on the GSC campus? Do you think that the students would co-operate?

Marsha Tyson, Augusta: I think it would be a good because there is no place we can go in Statesboro without the police running us off.

Al Walls, Savannah: No! I think "cooperation" should be hyphenated.

Rosemary Bailey, Tifton: I think it would be good if the little campus cop didn't get too vicious.

Carol Woody, Sylvester: I think it might work, but the only way we'll know is to try it.

Mary Hunt, Macon: Fine ideal. It sounds ok to me.

Mary Ann Addleman, Waleska: Betty Kelly, Savannah: No. The rules here are too strict on young people, but I don't agree with that.

Dudley Parker, Waycross: I don't think it would work on this campus because the crowd wouldn't tend to go for that.

Robert Cowden, Brunswick: If the school is going to grow I believe they should go ahead and try it and work it so that if the students didn't co-operate there would be nothing lost.

Donald Westberry, Odum: Yes, for I think it would help to raise the morals of the college because the only places we have to go now are the drive-in and the woods.

James Hancock, Brunswick: I say yes. I think the students would do all they could to make it a success.

June Farmer, Red Oak: Who is going to supervise it? Laura Kersey, Vidalia: I do think we need one, and I know the students would co-operate.

Ellen Neal, Warrenton: I think it would be a good idea, because that way we wouldn't have to go off campus.

Charles Young, Sandersville: Personally, I think it would be great, but I don't think it would work because who is going to stay on campus when they can go somewhere else.

Paul Turner, Dawson: Strictly out! They wouldn't co-operate because it would be too restricted.

Jo Carol Gettys, Statesboro: If you can once get a lot of people to park there it might work, but one car is not just going to go there.

Anna Evans, Bainbridge: I don't think the students would. Most people would rather not park in public.

Ginger Donaldson, Twin City: I think it would be a very good idea because couples need privacy at times.

Ray Beeland, Cordele: I think it would be fine as long as you didn't restrict it too much.

Ben Rouse, Brunswick: I don't think it would work. If it were handled by the administration it would probably be too restricted.

Rebecca Kemper, Macon: I don't think it's a good idea because it would invite it.

Harold Henderson, Willacoochee: It's not a good idea and I don't think the students would co-operate.

Carol Green, Macon: People are going wherever they want, regardless!

Bill Caire, Savannah: I think the students wouldn't co-operate because the staff wouldn't.

Jeane Broyles, Gordon: I think it would be good. Some students would co-operate, some wouldn't.

Bob Holcomb, Marietta: I feel that the college campus is no place for this type action for young men and young women.

Diane Woods, St. Simons: A fine idea to whom it may concern.

Martha Faye Hodges, Statesboro: I think it is a good idea but quite impossible and the possibilities are quite unlikely that this will ever be carried out.

Mrs. Franklin Makes Plans To Retire In July

Mrs. Cleo Franklin, director of Sanford Hall for 10 years will retire in July.

Mrs. Franklin came to Georgia Southern in 1953, after the death of her husband. She previously taught school and had also worked at Georgia Women's College in Milledgeville, Georgia.

When she was asked why she wanted to do this kind of work, she replied, "I like working with young people, especially boys." She also said, "The job is rewarding through the inspiration I receive from the boys and I like to hope that I helped a few of the thousands of boys who have passed through this dormitory."

After retirement, Mrs. Franklin will return to Asper, N. C., where she will reside in a retirement hotel. She has already applied for volunteer work at a cancer clinic. She would also like to do work with Y.W.C.A. and other civic organizations.

DUTCHMAN'S GOAL

By Dutch Van Houten
SPORTS WRITER

It seems as if Spring has come to Statesboro for good as of now. With the true coming of Spring will come the beautiful days of sunshine and the hot weather.

The Eagles have but two remaining baseball games at home and the tennis team will be busy having a few more matches set for the season. Since these spectator sports will not come as often as they have in the early weeks of the quarter a person will naturally look for another form of relaxation.

The golf course is a nice place to relieve the tensions of a day's work, but rather warm at this time of year. The most cooling form of relaxation on campus, besides playing bridge in the air-conditioned student center, would be a swim in the college pool. Many comments have been made concerning the healthful conditions which abide near the pool.

It seems as if the fellows who are in charge of the pool do a good job in keeping said area clean. In fact most people complain when the pool is closed for cleaning.

Several people have asked about the rules that regulate the operation of the pool. Any one who has ever worked near any water recreation facility would immediately know that safety is one of the most important factors surrounding this area.

More than once a family outing has turned into a tragedy due to horse play or negligence from a swimmer. The rules which are set up for our pool seem to be the basic set which a person would want to have whether at a private home pool or the swankiest country club.

For my penny's worth I agree with each of them except the rule concerning "necking or petting in any form." If the pool were open at night, I could well understand this law, but for open daylight, well, it seems rather un-romantic.

Let us leave the college pool and journey around the Statesboro area and look at some of the other swimming areas which will be blessed by the appearance of GSC students. One of the most popular areas is Savannah Beach for a Saturday or Sunday of "Surfing and sunning."

Spring quarter creates a great rush of students who wish to enjoy the golden rays of the big eye to the fullest extent, however some people come back to the campus with less of a tan than when they went down, that's always a novelty to me.

The sun and water is quite enjoyable, but let's don't rush things too much, everyone knows how hard it is to study while a person's back and legs are medium rare from improper protection.

Swimming is a great sport which is enjoyed by many but abused by few. With the Spring quarter well underway let's enjoy this recreation when possible. Maybe everybody will "play it by ear" and have a chance to return to the sport without being handicapped.

Members Of Baseball Team Awarded Prizes

For the second year Donaldson-Ramsey Clothing Store of Statesboro is awarding prizes to Georgia Southern Baseball players for various outstanding feats.

The clothing store is giving a Varsity sport shirt for the following: a home run, 4 hits in one game, 3 hits and no errors, and a pitcher pitching a shutout game.

Team members are also given credit on merchandise for the following: for two hits in one game, $1.00 credit; for the three hits $2.00; winning pitcher, $2.00; knock in winning run, $1.00; and scoring winning run, $1.00.

Robert Budd, Official Scorer for the baseball team, turns in the data sheets at the end of each week and according to Talmadge Ramsey, "the boys are really racking up."

According to Ramsey, "The giving of this merchandise is done in hopes of instilling the team members with a little more than the pride of winning. We hope that they will try just a little harder to bring glory and fame to GSC."

Seminole Scalp Eagles For 10-8 Win; Griffin's Hitting Streak Ends At Sixteen

Blanchard Stops Davidson, 7-0, With Six-Hitter

The GSC Eagles after having dropped a 10-8 decision to FSU traveled to Davidson, North Carolina for a game with the Davidson Wildcats on Monday afternoon.

Taking the field with a lineup that had not played together during the season, the Eagles held the Wildcats to six hits and won the game, 7-0. Pierce Blanchard, the ace of the Eagle pitching staff, was the winning pitcher as he shut out Davidson and won his fifth game against a lone defeat.

The Eagles now stand at 12-6 for the campaign while Davidson, guilty of nine errors, dropped its fourteenth game of the season.

Georgia Southern did most of its damage in a wild third inning by scoring five runs on three hits and four errors. Freshman Tommy Baker making his first appearance as a catcher opened the inning with a single and eventually scored after Blanchard and Jones had loaded the bases on errors.

Denny Herb from Savannah made his first appearance in the Eagle lineup and racked up two doubles and was the only Eagle to collect two hits. The Eagles as a team could only collect seven hits off two Davidson hurlers.

The second and final game of the series was played on Tuesday afternoon with Davidson emerging victorious by a score of 13-4. This score was received just before deadline and no results were available other than the score.

Coach Yeager Gives Comments On Track Team

Commenting on the lack of a track team at Georgia Southern, coach Pat Yeager stated that coaches are not available until near the end of spring quarter, and by that time, those who are all ready to go out have lost interest.

"Not too many people like to begin training in ninety degree weather," he added.

"Perhaps the most important reason for having no official track team is the lack of sufficient funds. The amount allotted for the year's set athletic activities does not permit the existence of an officially sanctioned track team," the GSC mentor pointed out.

"Many interested students, however, feel that a track team is not too expensive, and that a careful reallocation of athletic funds would permit GSC to have a better-rounded intercollegiate sports program," he concluded.

lows: first, Pin-Ups; second, Rebels; third, Metz and Alley Katz; fourth, Pin Bandits and Chinese Bandits; fifth, Ten Pins, Misfits and Pin Mates; and sixth, the Innates.

RELAXED MOMENT

Elvis Presley uses vocal persuasion in a romantic scene with Yvonne Craig in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "It Happened at the World's Fair." The song he sings here is appropriately titled "Relax." It's one of a flock of new melodies introduced by Presley in the new Paramount color attraction co-starring Joan O'Brien and Gary Lockwood. Much of the romantic comedy was filmed on locations at the Seattle World's Fair.

A Twin Killing!!! Georgia Southern's Jim Seeley almost banged into a double play in last Saturday's game with Florida State. The Seminoles took the victory from the Eagles, 10-8. GSC's last two home games will be with Mercer and Jacksonville University. P. S. Seeley made it to first. The FSU first sacker missed the throw.

Netmen Win 5-4 From Mercer U.

By ALEX GOWEN

The Georgia Southern tennis team won its second match of the season by defeating Mercer University Saturday in Macon.

The Eagles took three of the six singles matches with wins by Dan Dixon 8-6, 6-3; Joe Scraggs 7-5, 6-1; and, newcomer to the squad, Alex Caswell 6-1, 6-0.

Steve Wright, playing the number one position, lost to Mercer's number one man 1-6, 3-6. Johnny Williford dropped his match 4-6, 1-6. And Bobby Jones, in the only three-set match of the day, lost his 4-6, 6-4, 3-6.

Of the three double matches the Eagles needed two wins to post a five to four victory, and they got them.

Wright and Dixon won their match 8-6, 6-2, but Johnny Waters and Williford lost theirs 0-6, 5-7. The overall victory then hinged on the team of Jones and Scraggs, the last match to be finished.

This duo took the first set 6-2, then Mercer bounced back to tie the second at 5-5 and their service. But the two Eagles won the next game and the next to clinch their victory and the team's.

This weekend the Eagles are on the road again, this time for matches against an undefeated Oglethorpe, and Georgia State in Atlanta.

Eagles To Meet Dolphins Mon.

The GSC Eagles following their two game series with the Davidson Wildcats were to have met the Tarheels from the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, North Carolina Wednesday and Wake Forest today.

Ga. Southern's Eagles defeated the North Carolina Tarheels in a game at Chapel Hill, North Carolina yesterday by a score of 5-4. David Bell got credit for the win with some relief help from Pierce Blanchard. This puts the Eagles' season record at 13-7. A single game with Wake Forest is slated for today at Winston Salem, N. C.

North Carolina was seeking to revenge the 4-2 loss inflicted by the Eagles in an earlier game this year in Statesboro. Wake Forest took two of the three games played in Statesboro and is certainly expected to be even stronger on their home diamond.

Monday, the Eagles will host Jacksonville University in what, according to J. I. Clements, "should prove a real interesting game." Clements stated, "We are expecting Jacksonville to field a strong team; they have played a tough schedule and will certainly be wanting to add us to their win column."

On Thursday Mercer University will visit the GSC campus for a single game with the Eagles. Mercer has not proven to be a powerhouse this year, but is very capable of beating anyone on their schedule. They are a young ball club, but according to the reports received will prove to be just as worthy opponent as anyone on the GSC schedule. This will be next to last home game on the schedule. On the following Thursday, Mercer will again play the Eagles in Statesboro according to the schedule released by the Athletic Department.

Golfers Fall To Mercer By 14-13

The GSC golf team played its best match to date Friday, but was still found lacking as it absorbed a 14-13 defeat at the hands of Mercer University, according to coach Frank Radovich.

Bill Simmons was low man for the day as he shot a one over par 73. Bill Johnson and Wright North who shot a 74 and 75 respectively, were the other point winners for the Eagles.

"Bill Johnson, a freshman playing his first match of the year, played especially well and coupled with North, another freshman, was responsible in large part for the creditable showing of the team and these two boys will be seeing more action in place of others who have not played up to their capabilities," stated Radovich.

Individual scores of GSC golf team are:

Bill Simmons, 73.
Bill Johnson, 74.
Wright North, 75.
Bobby Jones, 80.
John Dekel, 81.
Tommy Martin, 82.

Upcoming Golf

The GSC Golf Team will be seeking their first victory against two defeats, Friday when they go against the University of Georgia Freshmen in Athens. The Eagles will have a battle on their hands since the Ga. Freshman play only 4 matches and are probably up for each one.

According to Coach Radovich the GSC freshmen are being given a chance to show what they have and did very well in the last match against Mercer. Radovich stated, "Play, so far, of the upper classmen has not proved to be of a better caliber than that of the freshmen." The freshmen should be even better when they have had a little more experience.

The next match the Eagles will play at home will be against The Citadel on May 2.

CAR WASH

The GSC Baptist Student Union will sponsor a car wash at Stubbs' Tire Company on South Main Street. Saturday, April 27.

The car wash will be from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. and the price will be a $1 donation, which will go to summer missions.

The BSU is holding the car wash to help meet a $600 goal. Those who want their cars picked up and delivered call 4-3020.

FSU Collects 13 Hits In Big Win

By LONICE BARRETT
Sports Editor

Last Saturday, the Florida State University Seminoles, led by the powerful hitting of Jim Reed and Gary Nichols, soundly defeated the Georgia Southern College Eagles by a score of 10-8.

FSU had the benefit of two three-run innings to pin the Eagles with their sixth loss of the current campaign against eleven wins. Florida State, after scoring two runs in the first, came back to score three runs in the third and fourth innings.

It was in the third that Reed singled and Nichols and Woody Woodward hit back to back homers to push the Floridians to a lead that they never relinquished. Reed, a scrappy and speedy second baseman had led off the inning with a single when Nichols, swinging a heavy bat, stepped and blasted one of Jimmy Williamson's pitches far over the right-centerfield fence. Woodward batting right behind Nichols hit one to left field that GSC leftfielder Jim Seeley got his glove on but couldn't catch.

The Eagles had their big inning in the fifth as David Bell opened the inning with one of two singles that he was to get in the inning.

The Eagles then proceeded to load the bases and Sandy Wells quickly emptied them with a triple to left field. GSC again loaded the bases in the inning but were able to collect only two more runs.

Starting the game for the Eagles was Jimmy Williamson, a young lad from Statesboro. Williamson, making his first start lasted three and two-thirds innings before giving way to another freshman, Glenn Hennig. Hennig faced three batters and was replaced by David Bell who in turn finished the game. Bell gave up five hits, two runs, walked two and struck out two.

The Seminoles collected thirteen hits in posting the win. They committed three errors and left six men stranded on base. The Eagles collected ten hits, committed no errors and left ten men on base.

Bill Griffin, slugging shortstop for the Eagles saw his consecutive game hitting spree halt as he was able to collect no hits during the four times he came to bat. Griffin had hit safely in sixteen games this year and was also the team's leading hitter as his .400 plus average easily led the team.

cold.
All of this self-inflicted misery was for the sake of trying to look "cool." Well, anyhow, it was funny and I'm looking forward to a repeat performance next year.

See you next week,
Amused

Dear Editor:

This letter is in reference to the recent directive from the Director of Student Health Services concerning "the possession of and/or use of sunlamps by Georgia Southern Students for any purpose be barred because of the danger of permanent injury. This is an administrative problem and penalty for infraction should be adequate and promptly invoked in all instances after reasonable notice to the student body."

Surely, this policy had been adopted in the best interest of the student body, but is it? It is true that some students do not know how to use a sunlamp properly, but why should the whole student body be penalized for the acts of a few careless students.

It seems that the prerogative of using such an article as a sunlamp should be left entirely to the individual. It does not seem to be quite the place of the administration to play "mother."

The more logical policy for the administration and the Director of Student Health Services to adopt would be to relieve themselves of the responsibility for any "permanent injury" received from the use of sunlamps by placing the responsibility of any such injury entirely in the hands of the individual student.

Sincerely yours,
Winston Willis
